

This early American coloring page shows what an early country store might have looked like in the late 1800s. This coloring page looks a lot like Landis Valley Museum's Country Store. Even the merchant looks like one of the volunteers who loves to interpret the store.